Dear Sir:

Argentina is in the process of creating its National Committee on Oceanography, a task that has been undertaken by Consejo Nacional de Investigaciones Científicas y Técnicas, the Argentine agency that deals--as its name implies--with scientific and technological matters on a national level. Members of the Committee will be, naturally, the several agencies that are concerned with the marine environment, including our Navy Hydrographic Office.

In fact our Office is destined to be an outstanding member of the Committee on account of our leadership in the field of oceanographic research here in Argentina. On the other hand, the undersigned has been appointed delegate of Consejo Nacional de Investigaciones Científicas y Técnicas to the SCOR--another step connected with the creation of the National Committee on Oceanography.

I pass this information on to you for its own sake, and also because I wish to call on you for assistance in securing information that may help us in drafting the charter of the new Committee. I feel that the rules that govern your National Committee might be an excellent document for me to look upon for suggestions when drawing up the charter of our own Committee. Will you oblige me by furnishing me this information?

Your kind attention to this matter will be highly appreciated.

Very sincerely yours,

LUIS R. A. CAPURRO
Capitán de Navío

Jefe del Servicio de
Hidrografia Naval
